FOURTEEN MEN ATTEND SECOND MEETING OF BOY LEADERSHIP COURSE THURSDAY

Fourteen men were in attendance at the second session of the Course in Boy Leadership which was held at the high school last Thursday night. The attendance was probably decreased through the fact that a last minute change in the meeting place was necessitated. The remaining meetings of the Course will be held in the Armory as had been previously announced.

New members who enrolled last week were C. M. Tackett, T. E. Stallings and W. B. Miller.

"Troop and Patrol Organization and Program" were discussed by the Scout Executive, C. G. Morrison. In the inter-patrol contest the "Screech Owl" patrol placed first, "The Lone Wolf" second and "The Cuckoos" third. In the mimetic exercises contest the "Cats" were first, "Lone Wolf" second and the "Screech Owl" third.

The patrols are organized as follows: "Screech Owl", Jesse M. Layton, Patrol Leader; D. L. Fisher, E. R. Putnam, Harry E. Dudley, Dr. E. J. Neinstadt, W. B. Miller, "Cuckoo" patrol, Wilbur Ensor, patrol leader; Harry Dover, S. T. Clayton, Denver Clubb, T. E. Stalling.

"Cat" patrol, M. H. McLane, patrol leader; J. A. Spence, H. C. Young, Robert Struve, "Lone Wolf" patrol; Joseph Sarsar, patrol leader; A. C. Rudloff, Wesley Deneke, Mr. Nunnelee, Woodrow Hardin, C. M. Tackett, P. D. Stewart.

At the meeting next Thursday night, the subjects which will be studied and discussed are "Scout Signalling", including the Morse code and Indian Sign Language and "Troop Meeting Program". Robert Struve of Sikeston, who has been very efficient in Scout signalling, will satisfactorily completed the Course.

A MIGHTY HUMAN PHIL BAXTER WILL PLAY FOR LEGION HALLOWEEN DANCE OCTOBER 31

Known throughout the country as leader of the popular Texas Tommies and composer of Piccolo Pete, Harmonica Harry, Gambler's Blues and others, Phil Baxter is quite the most human, human being. He has his hobbies, his joys and his sorrows, his pet peeves and his ambitions just like the rest of us, but he has talent that isn't quite so common to the people of the world.

Imagine a man who cannot read a note of music from a printed page leading such an orchestra as the Texas Tommies, writing some of the most popular hits of the year and playing the piano like a streak. But that is what anyone and everyone knows about this popular young artist. Few have tracked him to his home, however to find out what he does with his spare time.

The truth will out, Phil Baxter likes his mystery stories. He spends his time reading them with gusto and interchanges these synthetic thrills with real ones from the newspapers. His reading matter disposed of, what games does he play? Will he sit in at a game of bridge? He will not, and that is most emphatic. According to Phil, it is a vicious game. He says that probably forty of his dearest friends have been killed at the seemingly innocent pastime, but then Phil may not care for the game anyhow.

Americanism. The word is the keynote of Baxter himself as well as his orchestra and compositions. His favorites in the eye of the public are Lindbergh, Bobby Jones and Douglas Fairbanks. He gives Americanism as his reason. According to him, Jack Dempsey is the world champion still. Will Rogers and the Four Mark Brothers are his idea of a good time and Arthur Brisbane is his choice of columnists, perhaps all this can be explained by Americanism too.

And then Baxter wanders to the piano and runs his fingers over it reminiscently. It was just fifteen years ago that he played his first professional engagement. "I played a piano in a skating rink and I only knew one tune, but the skaters made so much noise they didn't know the difference". How many tunes does he know now? It is hard to tell, but he knows at least, how to play them like no-one else can.

Whether seen in public or in the sanctity of his own home, Phil Baxter is too good to be true. There is not enough to be said about the band he leads, the songs he writes and his future. We can only guess that the next step he makes will be to international fame. Now, scheduled to appear at the New Armory here October 31, under the exclusive management of the Music Corporation of America, it is assured that he will break all records and perhaps he will compose again for the further edification of modern dance music. Come what may, Phil Baxter will be the unprecedent hit of the season

Woman's Club will meet with Mrs. C. C. Rose and Mrs. C. H. Denman, at the home of the former, Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ausmus returned to their home in Centralia Mo., Sunday, following a visit of three weeks of Mrs. Ausmus with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Beck.

SHORT PASS FROM YOUNG TO COX PAVES WAY FOR LONE TOUCHDOWN AND VICTORY FRIDAY

A short pass from Harry Young to left tackle, and added one on the next play. It was third down and 8 to go. Bennett punted out of bounds on the Mules' 38-yard line as the quarter ended.

Score, Sikeston 0, Poplar Bluff 0.

Second Quarter

It was Poplar Bluff's ball on their own 38-yard line. Harper made 3 at right tackle. Knott lost 1 when tackled behind the line. Knott punted to the Sikeston 40-yard line.

Cox evaded half a dozen Bluffians and carried the ball to the Mules' 24-yard line. Fitzgerald lost 4 yards Hays replaced Cantrell at right tackle for Poplar Bluff. Cox went around left end for 3 yards. Bennett passed to Cox for 10 1/2 yards. The ball was two feet short of a first down. Cox smashed through center for first down on the Mules' 12-yard line. Cox gained one yard off left tackle Bennett was thrown for a 2-yard loss on an attempted left end run. A pass from Bennett fell short making it fourth down and 13 to go. McNally intercepted a pass from Bennett on the Mules' 9-yard line. It was a play in which inexperience might have been costly. Had he knocked it down, the ball would have been put in play on the Bluff 20-yard line.

The locals were superior in every department of the game, outchargin, outpassing and outkicking the Mules. Headsup football led to the recovery of several fumbles for Cunningham's men, but penalties are for the most part charged to the Bulldogs. Incomplete passes, roughing and offside penalties were costly items on the Bulldog slate. At that referee Moon and umpire Moore were than liberal with the Mules in interpreting the "full six-second interval" after the backfield had been placed in motion. Coach Peters started every play from a backfield shift formation.

A crowd estimated at 275 saw the Bulldogs win their second game of the season out of four starts. Whether it is significant or not, each of the four games has been won or lost by one touchdown or less. Caruthersville was downed by a single marker. The Charleston Bluejays managed to register one field kick, and the Chaffee Red Devils earned their victory by a single touchdown and point.

Bennett's dropkick was short by a few feet in the Friday encounter, and the game ended again within the single touchdown limit.

rimless for smartness

About the smartest effect which one encounters today among people who have adopted glasses is the rimless glasses in colonial or octagon shapes. They're inconspicuous, dressy and lend distinction to the appearance. They are worn by both men and women who are keen, in every detail of style discrimination.

We're showing various shapes in the rimless glasses: colonial, octagon, hexagon, leaf shape and elliptical styles in nose glass or spectacles or white gold mountings if preferred.

JIM REED RALLY AND PARADE AT BENTON, OCT. 31

As a prelude to the big Democratic rally for all Southeast Missouri Democrats at Benton, Friday night October 31, when Senator James A. Reed, nationally known orator, will be the principal speaker, a parade has been arranged.

It is expected there will be from 5000 to 7000 people present to hear Mr. Reed, who is well informed on all national matters and is a speaker of rare ability.

The Benton community building will be arranged to handle a crowd of around 6000, both floors to be used for the audience. Loud speakers will be installed so that everyone who attends can hear every word that is said.

A radio hookup has been arranged over KFVS at Cape Girardeau and the speech will be broadcast from that station.

The community building will be heated comfortably and there will be plenty of parking space for all who come to the big rally, the largest of its kind in Southeast Missouri during this campaign.

Other counties in this section are expected to send large delegations and this get together of the Democrats will result in much good to the ticket.

The parade is being arranged by the local committee and will be headed by the Chaffee brass band. There will be cars, floats and decorations of all kinds, slogans and banners, flags and bunting. It is planned that the procession shall leave Benton in the morning, make every town in the county and wind up here late in the afternoon. Every Democrat is invited to crank up his car and get in line. If you cannot come for the start, join in as the parade goes through your town. Band concerts will be given in some of the places, but this will be impossible at all stops because of the lack of time.

The parade is being scheduled as follows: Leave Benton 8:00, Morley 8:15, Blodgett 8:40, Diehlstadt 9:00, Charleston 9:30, Bertrand 9:45, Sikeston 10:00, Crowder 10:30, Vanduser 10:45, Oran 11:30, Chaffee noon, Kelso 1:30, Anzell 1:45, Fornfelt 2:00, Illmo 2:30, Commerce 3:15, Benton 3:30, New Hamburg 3:45 and back to Benton.—Benton Democ.

L. Daugherty, druggist of Cana-lou, who made his home here, was brought home Wednesday of the past week seriously ill. He seems some improved at this writing, and chances for an early recovery seem bright.

The Morley Bears journeyed to Portageville last Wednesday night and after battling in a field of mud with the team of that place, emerged with a 0-0 tie to their credit. This was the second night game for the local boys this year. Two members of the regular team, Emerson and Dickey, were unable to make the trip, due to illness, but the wing positions were played creditably by Harris and Leslie, the latter being shifted from center. Miller was the outstanding ground gainer for the local team, making several beautiful runs off tackle. The game this week will be played with the East Prairie team at East Prairie Friday afternoon. It is interesting to note that out of four games this year, three of them have been tied, while the lone defeat came at the hands of Cape Girardeau on Neighbor Day.

BRENTON ATTEMPTS TO SOLVE QUESTION OF WINTER FUEL FOR POOR

A novel idea has been advanced by C. E. Brenton, chairman of the Scott County Red Cross for the solution of the problem of supplying fuel for destitute families this winter.

Brenton argues that there are tracts of timber nearby which could be cut under an agreement between owners and those desiring fuel. Those needing fuel would be brought in contact with owners of tracts of timber land. They would cut two or three cords of wood, clean up and burn brush and have the owner of the land haul the wood to town.

It is pointed out that the owner of such tracts of land would benefit materially in this arrangement since the usual cost of cleaning land is $15 to $20 an acre. Under the plan suggested by Mr. Brenton, the landowner would be out only the time necessary to haul the wood to the homes of those cutting the fuel.

The Red Cross Chairman is anxious to work out some solution to this problem of supplying coal or wood. Receipts from the recent Roll Call Drive indicate that money at hand will not be enough to pay for all the relief this chapter will be called upon to perform. While individual subscriptions are nearly twice as large as those registered in other years, the total number of members is less than half of the usual number.

Instead of spending a large portion of money at hand for coal or wood, Mr. Brenton hopes to use this money for defraying bills for food, medical attention and clothing.

Another solution has been suggested. There are thousands of cords of so-called "dead timber", windfalls, dry wood, etc., in the county. It is hoped that some plan can be worked out to send volunteer workers with trucks and wagons after such fuel for free distribution this winter.

"Why, what's amatter with the way I look, huh?"

"What isn't the matter! That hat looks like it came out of the gutter; your suit's dirty and in rags, your shoes are scuffed and run down, and the rag man wouldn't take your tie and shirt."

"Yeah, I suppose I could be getting some new duds. Costs too doggone much though".

Privacy in Pretentious Surroundings

Privacy is keenly desired when one is grief-stricken with bereavement and yet there is a consoling balm to the realization that the last tribute to the departed was accorded with prestige, elegance, reverence and respect.

Robinson was working on the pile driver and somehow one of the workmen tightened the wrong cable. The strands parted and carried a large wooden pile towards him with terrific speed. He dodged, but the piece struck a glancing blow, fracturing his hip. In trying to make his getaway, his feet became enmeshed in the willow mat and the force of the blow knocked him over, fracturing both ankles. He is resting nicely and hopes to be up in about two weeks.

MINER COMMUNITY GROUP WILL NOT SERVE DINNER

Members of the arrangement committee of the scheduled Ghost Party Tuesday night at which Sikeston Lions and their wives and girl friends will participate, hasten to deny the report that a regular dinner will be served. The rumor has gained ground for some reason or other.

Miss Mildred Smith of New Madrid, is improving, and Glenn White Cooter youth, who lost a hand in an accident near New Madrid some time ago, is cheerful and full of pep.

pool where the hogs go down to wallow.

Tyler, Texas, October 18.—Report of agricultural condition along the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Lines for the week ending October 18:

Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas: Light rains fell throughout this district the latter part of the week. The temperature had been above normal and with the present moisture in the ground all late planted gardens and fall sown grain crops have made a wonderful growth. Good gardens and turnip patches are noticeable on practically every farm, and these seem to be a determination on the part of the farmers along our entire system to grow gardens with a view of reducing their grocery bills. The fall rains have caused a marked improvement in pastures and late feed crops. Many farmers are mowing their fields and saving the hay. Soybeans have withstood the drought better than any other crop, and are being saved for hay. In general, the yield of corn will be the lightest in many years; however, the territory between Deering and Caruthersville, Mo., has some excellent corn and cotton as a result of a good local rain. Cotton is being picked out rather slowly in this section, and in many cases tenants have abandoned their crops and left them for the landlord to harvest.

NO LESS THAN NOTHING

I wonder why they don't throw a basket dinner on the bank of the Atlantic, and have a choir singing during the disarray, consisting of sinking costly battleships. It seems that the public ought to get more benefit out of the vessels, something more than reading about the sinking of them in compliance with the Stague Conference, or the Ballyhoo Bill.

As a supplement of some rural wit:

The boys were all gathered around the stove one Sunday when one fellow spoke up and said: "Do you know what the old man pulled last night, it was the dundest trick I ever heard of".

"What did he do?" somebody was good enough to ask.

"He went over here to the store and bought a sack of flour when we didn't have a drop of whiskey in the house", was the casual reply. It's humor if it is dry as the dickens.

BRIBERY OFFERED TO OBTAIN VOTES FOR DEWEY SHORT

Congressman Frank Reid, chairman of the Congressional Flood Control Committee, and Congressman Dewey Short, congressman from this district were in Kennett Thursday morning for another of their "non-partisan" flood control conferences sponsoring the candidacy of Mr. Short, who is a candidate to succeed himself on the Republican ticket.

Although some dozen or more Democrats with a few Republican leaders, accepted an invitation to meet in Langdon Jones' office for a "non-partisan" conference to hear of the progress to flood control legislation. Congressman Reid lost no time in informing the party that he was not out in the interest of flood control at this time, but was on a political mission in the interest of Short's candidacy.

After having the audacity to extend an invitation to this small group of dyed-in-the-wool Democrats to forsake their party and rally to the support of Short, which invitation was courteously but firmly declined by Senator T. R. R. Ely, acting as spokesman for the crowd, Reid made a threat which bordered upon blackmail.

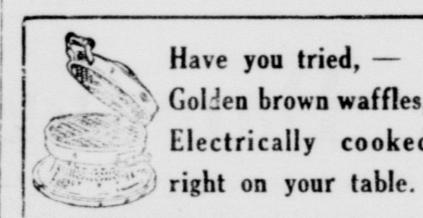

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Ely made the statement that he believed Jim Fulbright could vote just as often for flood control as Dewey Short, and concluded his statement by expressing confidence in the members of Congress, whom he believed would vote for flood control if they thought it was right, and would vote

Whereupon Mr. Reid replied to the effect, "Well Senator, you have been in politics long enough to know that we don't always vote for the things that we believe are right or wrong. We consider our own interest in the matter."

From the tone and tenor of his remarks, Mr. Reid left the impression on his hearers that unless Short was returned to Congress that the district would be jeopardizing its chances of receiving additional flood control.

Reid and Short both tried to convey the impression that Short was showing some special favor to this section by the interest he was taking in flood control, evidently losing sight of the fact that it was only the duty of whoever represents the Fourth District, to do all in his power to secure flood control legislation for the people of this section.—Dunklin Democrat.

the St. Francis and other tributary streams.

If Short or Reid either one think that they can use such tactics to coerce the people of Dunklin County to desert the standard of the Democratic party, they will find on November 4, that they have been badly mistaken, and that Jim Fulbright congressman from this district when flood control legislation originated in Congress, is the choice of the people of Dunklin County.

It was through the efforts of Jim Fulbright, after a bitter fight, that the St. Francis River was mentioned in the Flood Control Bill. He was only doing his duty however, just as Dewey Short was doing in any effort he has expended for the people of this section.—Dunklin Democrat.

WILTON FARMER RAISES TEN-POUND RUTABAGA

Louis Bernhardt, a farmed residing six miles east of Wilton, saw in our first issue where we were trying to put Wilton on the map by telling of the fertility of the soil of Monroe County, and while harvesting his crop of rutabagas this week came across some unusually large ones. There were several of them weighing seven and eight pounds, but one in the lot tipped the scales for even ten pounds.

Mr. Bernhardt brought it to this office Tuesday and it is now on display at the State Bank.

No special care was taken in the cultivation of this crop. Mr. Bernhardt says, they being raised along with his potato crop, each being cultivated at the same time, no special effort being given them.

Come on, Southeast Missouri, you who claim yours is the modern promised land—show us something that beats our twelve-foot highcorn—and these ten-pound rutabagas.—Guy Cooksey in Wilton, Wis., Times

LILBOURN OFFICER SHOT TO DEATH SUNDAY DURING ALTERCATION OVER GATE CRASHER

J. C. Henderson, 40 years old, with a bullet through his heart. Justice of the Peace Neal of Parma called together a Coroner's jury and returned a verdict that Henderson came to his death at the hands of a pistol wielded by Smith, and ordered the Parma officer held without bond. Smith surrendered voluntarily to the sheriff. A date for a preliminary hearing was not set.

Smith pulled his gun in trying to stop a gate crasher. The latter objected, and Henderson walked up and said: "That's not necessary, Smith." A bystander grabbed the gun, however, and struck the gate crasher over the head. The weapon was discharged and Henderson fell dead.

Three Years Stomach Trouble

"Konjola was the medicine I need."

"ed", said Mr. G. C. Raber, 5824 East Seventeenth street, Kansas City Mo. "For the last three years I was afraid to eat because of indigestion, gas bloating, acidity and a heavy feeling in my stomach. My liver was sluggish and dark spots appeared before my eyes. Rheumatism often affected my arms and limbs.

"Seeing where many people were benefited by the use of Konjola, I decided to give it a trial. After using two bottles, the stomach trouble disappeared. As I continued with the treatment my health returned. I enjoy my food now and I have more energy. I highly recommend Konjola for what it has done for me".

Many people state that one or two bottles of Konjola gave amazing relief but it is recommended that six or eight bottles be taken to obtain a lasting and complete relief.

Konjola is sold in Sikeston at the Derris Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

The Sikeston young man when asked by his really big flame "do you still love me?" merely pointed to his record of sinkers and coffee at Dad's for breakfast six days per week "just so's he could afford three trips weekly to the Malone".

We might add that anyone who can stand sinkers and java six days a week is physically fit to join the Marines and possibly needs three trips to a theatre to forget.

PEG KINDER, 30, MOREHOUSE RESTAURANT
MAN COMMITS SUICIDE MONDAY MORNING

Warren G. "Peg" Kinder, thirty years old, for the past two or three months proprietor of a small restaurant in back of the Forest Hotel, locked the doors of his establishment shortly before 10 o'clock Monday morning and sent a bullet from a small pistol through his heart. The body was found thirty minutes later by friends.

A coroner's investigation later disclosed that Kinder also had a bottle of poison on his body, but there was nothing to indicate that he had swallowed a portion of the substance. His mother, 65 years old, is confined to her bed with shock over the affair.

Kinder, it was disclosed, left a will asking that all his debts be paid out of funds at hand, and asked further that bills due him be collected.

According to information from Morehouse, Kinder lived with his mother. Until recently he was employed in the Himmelberger-Harrison saw mill of that place, but quit several months ago to open his restaurant.

A verdict of suicide with a pistol was returned by the coroner's jury Monday afternoon. Friends could assign no reason for his action. He is unmarried.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the house. Interment in the Sikeston City Cemetery, John Parrish of Morehouse in charge.

BOARDMAN CHAPEL CLAIMS RECORD AS COUNTRY CHURCH

Just a word about Pleasant Valley Church, better known as Boardman Chapel.

People often have asked the writer about the church at this place, saying it was dead or having heard such. It is not at all dead, because it truly is a church of God and God's work never dies.

We believe we hold the record in Scott County as a rural church and Sunday school. We have had an organized Sunday school at this place for fifteen years and have never missed a Sunday only when it was zero weather, and in the rainy season, the summer of 1928, when it

The Pastime Billiard Parlor operated on Main street by Gaines of Steele, was destroyed by fire Friday night at 1:15 o'clock, the origin of which is unknown. The building is joined on the south by Manheimer's Clothing Store, and on the north by Hunter's Supply Grocery. Hunter's Supply ~~was~~ caught fire, but it was saved with most of the damage being done by smoke and water. The billiard parlor, which contained six tables, was a total loss and was estimated to be worth about $8000.WHAT IS THIS GOLF? ASKS
ADDICT OF THE GAME

The Standard is indebted to Frank Bridges, formerly of the staff of the Sikeston High School, and at present employed as teacher of biology in Marion, Ill.

Golf is a kind of work made expensive enough for a man to enjoy it. It is a physical and mental exertion made attractive by the fact that you have to dress for it in a $200,000 club house. Golf is what letter carrying ditch digging and carpet beating would be if those three tasks had to be performed on the same hot afternoon in short pants and colored socks by gouty-looking gentlemen who required a different implement for every mood. Golf is the simplest looking game in the world when you decide to take it up, and the toughest when you have been at it ten or twelve years. It is probably the only known game a man can play as long as a quarter of a century and then discover that it was too deep for him in the first place.

The game is played on carefully selected greens, made of grass, with little white balls and as many clubs as the player can afford. These balls cost from 75c to $25, and it is possible to support a family of ten (all adults) for five months on the money represented by the balls lost by some golfers in a single afternoon.

A golf course has 18 holes, 17 of which are unnecessary and put in to make the game harder. A "hole" is a tin cup in the center of a "green". A green is a small parcel of grass costing about $1.98 a blade, and usually located between a brook and a couple of apple trees or a lot of "unfinished excavations".

The idea is to get the golf ball from a given point into each of the 18 cups in the fewest strokes and the greatest number of words. The ball must not be thrown, pushed or carried. It must be propelled by about $200 worth of curious looking implements, especially designed to

Ira Shuffit, one of our genial truckmen about town, registers in the grand open hard luck tournament of all time. He needed only to break one leg or both last week to complete seven days of perfect hard luck.

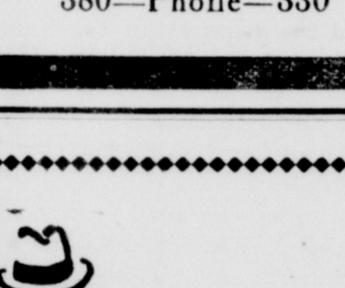

It started Monday morning, October 13. On that day, Ira trucked a load of household goods to its new location. The last article to be delivered, and one with which Shuffit had been extremely careful, was a caged canary bird. The bottom fell out of the cage as Ira breathed a sigh of relief congratulating himself upon safe transportation for such a delicate creature. The bird escaped and Ira swapped one trucking bill for one canary bird, which balanced that page in the book.

Tuesday afternoon, Ira had the

Fourteen men were in attendance at the second session of the Course in Boy Leadership which was held at the high school last Thursday night. The attendance was probably decreased through the fact that a last minute change in the meeting place was necessitated. The remaining meetings of the Course will be held in the Armory as had been previously announced.

New members who enrolled last week were C. M. Tackett, T. E. Stalling and W. B. Miller.

"Troop and Patrol Organization and Program" were discussed by the Scout Executive, C. G. Morrison. In the inter-patrol contest the "Screech Owl" patrol placed first, "The Lone Wolf" second and "The Cuckoos" third. In the mimetic exercises contest the "Cats" were first, "Lone Wolf" second and the "Screech Owl" third.

The patrols are organized as follows: "Screech Owl", Jesse M. Layton, Patrol Leader; D. L. Fisher, E. R. Putnam, Harry E. Dudley, Dr. E. J. Neinstadt, W. B. Miller. "Cuckoo" patrol, Wilbur Ensor, patrol leader; Harry Dover, S. T. Clayton, Denver Club, T. E. Stalling.

"Cat" patrol, M. H. McLane, patrol leader; J. A. Spence, H. C. Young, Robert Struwe, "Lone Wolf" patrol, Joseph Sarsar, patrol leader; A. C. Rudloff, Wesley Deneke, Mr. Nunnelee, Woodrow Hardin, C. M. Tackett, P. D. Stewart.

At the meeting next Thursday night, the subjects which will be studied and discussed are "Scout Signalling", including the Morse code and Indian Sign Language and "Troop Meeting Program". Robert Struwe of Sikeston, who has been very efficient in Scout signalling, will satisfactorily completed the Course.

A MIGHTY HUMAN PHIL BAXTER WILL PLAY FOR LEGION HALLOWEEN DANCE OCTOBER 31

Known throughout the country as leader of the popular Texas Tommies and composer of Piccolo Pete, Harmonica Harry, Gambler's Blues and others, Phil Baxter is quite the most human, human being. He has his hobbies, his joys and his sorrows, his pet peeves and his ambitions just like the rest of us, but he has talent that isn't quite so common to the people of the world.

Imagine a man who cannot read a note of music from a printed page leading such an orchestra as the Texas Tommies, writing some of the most popular hits of the year and playing the piano like a streak. But that is what anyone and everyone knows about this popular young artist. Few have tracked him to his home, however to find out what he does with his spare time.

The truth will out, Phil Baxter likes his mystery stories. He spends his time reading them with gusto and interchanges these synthetic thrills with real ones from the newspapers. His reading matter disposed of, what games does he play? Will he sit in at a game of bridge? He will not, and that is most emphatic. According to Phil, it is a vicious game. He says that probably forty of his dearest friends have been killed at the seemingly innocent pastime, but then Phil may not care for the game anyhow.

Americanism. The word is the keynote of Baxter himself as well as his orchestra and compositions. His favorites in the eye of the public are Lindbergh, Bobby Jones and Douglas Fairbanks. He gives Americanism as his reason. According to him, Jack Dempsey is the world champion still. Will Rogers and the Four Mark Brothers are his idea of a good time and Arthur Brisbane is his choice of columnists, perhaps all this can be explained by Americanism too.

And then Baxter wanders to the piano and runs his fingers over it reminiscently. It was just fifteen years ago that he played his first professional engagement. "I played a piano in a skating rink and I only knew one tune, but the skaters made so much noise they didn't know the difference". How many tunes does he know now? It is hard to tell, but he knows at least, how to play them like no-one else can.

Whether seen in public or in the sanctity of his own home, Phil Baxter is too good to be true. There is not enough to be said about the band he leads, the songs he writes and his future. We can only guess that the next step he makes will be to international fame. Now, scheduled to appear at the New Armory here October 31, under the exclusive management of the Music Corporation of America, it is assured that he will break all records and perhaps he will compose again for the further edification of modern dance music. Come what may, Phil Baxter will be the unprecedented hit of the season.

Woman's Club will meet with Mrs. C. C. Rose and Mrs. C. H. Denman, at the home of the former, Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ausmus returned to their home in Centralia Mo., Sunday, following a visit of three weeks of Mrs. Ausmus with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Beck.

SHORT PASS FROM YOUNG TO COX PAVES WAY FOR LONE TOUCHDOWN AND VICTORY FRIDAY

A short pass from Harry Young to left tackle, and added one on the next play. It was third down and 8 to go. Bennett punted out of bounds on the Mules' 38-yard line as the quarter ended.

Score, Sikeston 0. Poplar Bluff 0.

Second Quarter

It was Poplar Bluff's ball on their own 38-yard line. Harper made 3 at right tackle. Knott lost 1 when tackled behind the line. Knott punted to the Sikeston 40-yard line. Cox evaded half a dozen Bluffians and carried the ball to the Mules' 24-yard line. Fitzgerald lost 4 yards. Hays replaced Cantrell at right tackle for Poplar Bluff. Cox went around left end for 3 yards. Bennett passed to Cox for 10 1/2 yards. The ball was two feet short of a first down. Cox smashed through center for first down on the Mules' 12-yard line. Cox gained one yard off left tackle. Bennett was thrown for a 2-yard loss on an attempted left end run. A pass from Bennett fell short making it fourth down and 13 to go. McNally intercepted a pass from Bennett on the Mules' 9-yard line. It was a play in which inexperience might have been costly. Had he knocked it down, the ball would have been put in play on the Bluff 20-yard line.

The locals were superior in every department of the game, outcharging, outpassing and outkicking the Mules. Headup football led to the recovery of several fumbles for Cunningham's men, but penalties are for the most part charged to the Bulldogs. Incomplete passes, roughing and offside penalties were costly items on the Bulldog slate. At that referee Moon and umpire Moore were than liberal with the Mules in interpreting the "full six-second interval" after the backfield had been placed in motion. Coach Peters started every play from a backfield shift formation.

A crowd estimated at 275 saw the Bulldogs win their second game of the season out of four starts. Whether it is significant or not, each of the four games has been won or lost by one touchdown or less. Caruthersville was downed by a single marker. The Charleston Bluejays managed to register one field kick, and the Chaffee Red Devils earned their victory by a single touchdown and point.

Bennett's dropkick was short by a few feet in the Friday encounter, and the game ended again within the single touchdown limit.

First Quarter

Knott kicked off to Fox on the Sikeston 33-yard line. Fox returned to the 42-yard line. Henderson was knocked out in the play. He was replaced.

Cox sidestepped through left tackle to the Mules' 45-yard line for 13 yards. Cox made 3 in same place.

The Bluff right end was offside and the Mules took a 5-yard penalty placing the ball on their own 40-yard line. First and ten for Sikeston.

Bennett was stopped for no gain on an attempted left end run. Cox stumbled through right tackle for 4 yards. Cox hit the line for two yds. Bennett made first down round right end on the Bluff 33-yard line.

Bennett gained two at left tackle. A pass Bennett to Cox was wide. Cox lost a yard, making it fourth down and nine to go. Reed intercepted a pass from Bennett, and the Mules took the ball on their own 45-yard line.

White made 5 at left tackle. Reed added 2 and a half yards around the right end. Knott fell back and kicked to Bennett on the Sikeston 10 yd line. Bennett returned 8 yards.

Cox made 8 yards around right end. He crashed through to the Sikeston 26-yard line and first down.

Bennett lost 4 yards. Cox made up the loss on a left tackle smash in the next play. It was third down and 10 to go. Bennett kicked to the Mules' 45-yard line.

Reed made 1 yard around right end. Knott who had been shifted from center to the back field made 4 at right tackle. A pass from White to Borth was short. Fourth down and 5 to go. Knott punted to the Sikeston 18-yard line.

Walker lost one yard on a right end run. He slipped trying to cut in. Cox made 15 yards to the Sikeston 33-yard line on a whirling, side-stepping run. Cox lost 2 yards at Young's pass was incomplete as the quarter ended.

Score: Sikeston 0, Poplar Bluff 0.

Third Quarter

Cox received the Poplar Bluff kick-off on his own 20-yard line and ran to the Sikeston 38-yard marker. He made 10 yards and first down on the next play to the Sikeston 48-yard line. Walker, who went in at the half, fumbled a pass from center for a 5-yard loss. Young passed to Whidden for first down on the Poplar Bluff 41-yard line. Cox gained one at right tackle.

Knott broke through the Sikeston line to throw Walker for an 8-yard loss. Young's pass was incomplete as Young punted to the Poplar Bluff 15-yard line.

The DANGER SIGNAL

A stout woman drove up to a Sikeston filling station. "I want a quart of oil," she said. "What kind, heavy?" asked the attendant. "Say, young man, don't get fresh with me," was the indignant response.

McNally was stopped dead for no gain. White made 4 yards at left tackle. Young returned Knott's kick from the Bulldog's 30-yard line to the 41-yard marker. Fox hit the line for 1 yard. Harper intercepted a pass from Young, and the Mules took the ball in midfield.

Fox hit the line for 4 yards. Cox hurdled for another yard. Young's pass was short. He punted on the last down and Ancell grounded the ball on the Mules' 2-yard line. Knott kicked on the first down to his own 33-yard line.

remless for smartness

About the smartest effect which one encounters today among people who have adopted glasses is the rimless glasses in colonial or octagon shapes. They're inconspicuous, dressy and lend distinction to the appearance. They are worn by both men and women who are keen, in every detail of style discrimination.

We're showing various shapes in the rimless glasses: colonial, octagon, hexagon, leaf shape and elliptical styles in nose glass or spectacles—or white gold mountings if preferred.

The Morley Bears journeyed to Portageville last Wednesday night and after battling in a field of mud with the team of that place, emerged with a 0-0 tie to their credit. This was the second night game for the local boys this year. Two members of the regular team, Emerson and Dickey, were unable to make the trip due to illness, but the wing positions were played creditably by Harris and Leslie, the latter being shifted from center. Miller was the outstanding ground gainer for the local team, making several beautiful runs of tackle. The game this week will be played with the East Prairie team at East Prairie Friday afternoon. It is interesting to note that out of four games this year, three of them have been tied, while the lone defeat came at the hands of Cape Girardeau on Neighbor Day.

BRENTON ATTEMPTS TO SOLVE QUESTION OF WINTER FUEL FOR POOR

JIM REED RALLY AND PARADE AT BENTON, OCT. 31

As a prelude to the big Democratic rally for all Southeast Missouri Democrats at Benton, Friday night October 31, when Senator James A. Reed, nationally known orator, will be the principal speaker, a parade has been arranged.

It is expected there will be from 5000 to 7000 people present to hear Mr. Reed, who is well informed on all national matters and is a speaker of rare ability.

The Benton community building will be arranged to handle a crowd of around 6000, both floors to be used for the audience. Loud speakers will be installed so that everyone who attends can hear every word that is said.

A radio hookup has been arranged over KFVS at Cape Girardeau and the speech will be broadcast from that station.

The community building will be heated comfortably and there will be plenty of parking space for all who come to the big rally, the largest of its kind in Southeast Missouri during this campaign.

Other counties in this section are expected to send large delegations and this get together of the Democrats will result in much good to the ticket.

The parade is being arranged by the local committee and will be headed by the Chaffee brass band. There will be cars, floats and decorations of all kinds, slogans and banners, flags and bunting. It is planned that the procession shall leave Benton in the morning, make every town in the county and windup here late in the afternoon. Every Democrat is invited to crank up his car and get in line. If you cannot come for the start, join in as the parade goes through your town. Band concerts will be given in some of the places, but this will be impossible at all stops because of the lack of time.

The parade is being scheduled as follows: Leave Benton 8:00, Morley 8:15, Blodgett 8:40, Diehlsstadt 9:00, Charleston 9:30, Bertrand 9:45, Sikeston 10:00, Crowder 10:30, Vanduser 10:45, Oran 11:30, Chaffee noon Kelso 1:30, Ancell 1:45, Fornfelt 2:00, Illmo 2:30, Commerce 3:15, Benton 3:30, New Hamburg 3:45 and back to Benton.—Benton Democrat.

LOCAL GRID TEAM WILL REMAIN IDLE THIS WEEK

A novel idea has been advanced by C. E. Brenton, chairman of the Scott County Red Cross for the solution of the problem of supplying fuel for destitute families this winter.

Brenton argues that there are tracts of timber nearby which could be cut under an agreement between owners and those desiring fuel. Those needing fuel would be brought in contact with owners of tracts of timber land. They would cut two or three cords of wood, clean up and burn brush and have the owner of the land haul the wood to town.

It is pointed out that the owner of such tracts of land would benefit materially in this arrangement since the usual cost of cleaning land is $15 to $20 an acre. Under the plan suggested by Mr. Brenton, the land owner would be out only the time necessary to haul the wood to the homes of those cutting the fuel.

The Red Cross Chairman is anxious to work out some solution to this problem of supplying coal or wood. Receipts from the recent Roll Call Drive indicate that money at hand will not be enough to pay for all the relief this chapter will be called upon to perform. While individual subscriptions are nearly twice as large as those registered in other years, the total number of members is less than half of the usual number.

Instead of spending a large portion of money at hand for coal or wood, Mr. Brenton hopes to use this money for defraying bills for food, medical attention and clothing.

Another solution has been suggested. There are thousands of cords of so-called "dead timber", windfalls, dry wood, etc., in the county. It is hoped that some plan can be worked out to send volunteer workers with trucks and wagons after such fuel for free distribution this winter.

Send the money to Rev. Fred Risner, church treasurer, Blodgett, Mo., Route 1.

This work will be done by contract and the work accepted by a committee before your money is paid out by the church treasurer.

Please respond to this call soon for the community would like this work done before Thanksgiving. Contributions.

"Why, what'samatter with the way I look, huh?"

"What isn't the matter! That hat looks like it came out of the gutter; your suit's dirty and in rags, your shoes are scuffed and run down, and the rag man wouldn't take your tie and shirt."

"Yeah, I suppose I could be getting some new duds. Costs too doggone much though."

"John you're like a little boy, and it looks as though I'll have to treat you like one...now don't argue...tomorrow you and I are going straight down to the Sikeston Cleaning Co. and I am going to see that you get outfitted to look like a business man instead of a tramp. Privacy is keenly desired when one is grief-stricken with bereavement and yet there is a consoling balm to the realization that the last tribute to the departed was accorded with prestige, elegance, reverence and respect.

Robinson was working on the pile driver and somehow one of the workers tightened the wrong cable. The strands parted and carried a large wooden pile towards him with terrific speed. He dodged, but the piece struck a glancing blow, fracturing his hip. In trying to make his getaway, his feet became enmeshed in the willow mat and the force of the blow knocked him over, fracturing both ankles. He is resting nicely and hopes to be up in about two weeks.

Why Vote the Democratic Ticket?

When a minority party asks the expulsion of the majority from power it should be required to set forth the reasons for the demand.

We ask it, then, because those in power have broken faith with the tillers of the soil and deepened their distress.

We ask it because of the enactment of a tariff law, at the behest of contributors to a campaign fund which permits the favored few to pick the pockets of the consumers of a billion dollars yearly.

We ask it because of the stupidity of the performance that has turned against us the resentment of mankind.

We ask it because of a tariff policy that threatens to shut us out from the markets of the world.

We ask it because of a fiscal policy that makes it impossible for our debtors to pay their debts.

We ask it because, to serve the exigencies of politics, the administration encouraged the hysterical market speculation and thus made inevitable the panic that laid us low.

We ask it because of their failure to take immediate and practical steps to meet the human problem of the unemployed.

We ask it because in the gravest economic crisis in generations they have failed to give us a leadership of courage and vision and have left us drifting helplessly in the fishing streams of the Rapidian.

Because the administration has collapsed and has forfeited the confidence of the nation; because it has impoverished us at home and discredited us abroad; because of its amazing ineptitude and multitudinous failures, we call upon the people of every political persuasion who have not been served and who have been betrayed to assert their rights and rebuke those in power by the election of a Democratic House and Senate.—Claude G. Bowers.

The Standard editor feels a little puffed up for being classed among the nine leading country editors of the State of Missouri. Edgar White of Macon, Mo., a writer of note, was asked to name the editors, secure their photos, have them write a paragraph defining "What is an editor?" and submit them to The United States Publisher and Printer a trade journal of Chicago. The October issue carried the names, photos and the paragraphs. Those selected by Mr. White were: Walter Williams, G. W. Green, H. J. Blanton, Mrs. W. W. Henderson, Frank Sosey, Dorys Hollenbeck, C. L. Blanton, Omar D. Gray and Tom Bodine. Three of these editors were trained in the Paris Appeal office by the late B. F. Blanton and were C. L. and H. J. Blanton and Tom Bodine.

Hallowe'en, the time when boys and girls raise thunder is about due. Last year many large plate glass windows of the city were ruined by the use of soap containing pumice powder, or some other grit, that cut the polish of the glass. This year Jim Hudgins of the Sterling Store, has offered to give 25 bars of P. & G. laundry soap for smearing windows, that contains no grit. Each of these bars can be cut to make three pieces that will do a lot of dirty work and will wash off. The Chief of Police should arrest any boy or girl using any soap other than pure laundry soap. Parents should see that Sonny or Sis do not leave lasting marks on costly plate glass windows.

A man said to be the inventor of the first typewriter, has closed his earthly account. He is responsible for wiping out the scribe's profession, and for the decay of penmanship as an art, but no benefactor within a century has done more than he who took from weary fingers the burden of preparing pen-written manuscript and from weary heads the burden of reading it.

Before you cast a vote for congressman ask yourself this question: "If he is elected, will he vote for the interest of the industrial States of the east, or will he vote to faithfully represent the interest of the people of this district and Missouri?" Then cast your vote in the interest of your own pocketbook and for the welfare of your family.

We have in this country 40,000 millionaires and 5,000,000 men and women looking for work. If your sympathy is with the unemployed and you want to help them and help yourself, vote the Democratic ticket.

German Fascists are willing to go to war to "free" the Fatherland. Germany seems capable of coping with its enemies, but may need outside help to be delivered from its friends.

The parent's job in training children in good food habits is only half done when it is well begun. There is always the possibility of the influence of playmates who are allowed to pick and choose what they will eat, or to spend money for sweets and other foods between meals. Good food habits, supervised carefully throughout childhood, make for good nutrition, which is the basis of sound physical development.

The campaign is drawing to a close. Every Democrat should stir himself to get every vote into the ballot box that will register a protest against the Hoover brand of prosperity. If you want a chance to work; if you want to earn some money; if you want better prices for your farm products; if you want better times, shuck your coat and go to work to carry the county and State for Democracy.

Senator Borah says that he has no faith in the Federal Farm Board and neither has anyone else for that matter. It is just a gesture made by the Hoover administration to fool the farmers. The Senator says that "The time has come for a showdown to find out whether the pledges of our political parties as regards agriculture are going to be kept" and then goes on to allege that he has just started his fight for farm relief. The Senator further paid his respect to the tariff, saying that it was simply a battle between east and west and that he would never be found voting against the west.

The Distinguished Senator reminds us so much of our Junior Missouri Senator and Republican Congressman—he is so different. Borah will never be found voting for the East on the tariff question and the Missouri Republican contingent in Congress are never found voting for the West.

SOCCER GAME WITH EAST PRAIRIE POSTPONED UNTIL THIS WEDNESDAY

A soccer game, the first on the Sikeston schedule this year, set for Wednesday afternoon of last week on the East Prairie field, was postponed on account of bad weather. Coach Moore picked her team of soccerettes, the "varsity" so to speak, from a large group of upperclassmen which turned out this fall for this popular sport.

Weather permitting, the game will be played at East Prairie Wednesday.

REPORT NOTES IMPROVEMENT IN LATE FARM CROPS

Tyler, Texas, October 18.—Report of agricultural condition along the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Lines for the week ending October 18:

Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas: Light rains fell throughout this district the latter part of the week. The temperature had been above normal and with the present moisture in the ground all late planted gardens and fall sown grain crops have made a wonderful growth. Good gardens and turnip patches are noticeable on practically every farm, and these seems to be a determination on the part of the farmers along our entire system to grow gardens with a view of reducing their grocery bills. The fall rains have caused a marked improvement in pastures and late feed crops. Many farmers are mowing their fields and saving the hay. Soybeans have withstood the drought better than any other crop, and are being saved for hay. In general, the yield of corn will be the lightest in many years; however, the territory between Deering and Caruthersville, Mo., has some excellent corn and cotton as a result of a good local rain. Cotton is being picked out rather slowly in this section, and in many cases tenants have abandoned their crops and left them for the landlord to harvest.

NO LESS THAN NOTHING

I wonder why they don't throw a basket dinner on the bank of the Atlantic, and have a choir singing during the disarmament, consisting of sinking costly battleships. It seems that the public ought to get more benefit out of the vessels, something more than reading about the sinking of them in compliance with the Hague Conference, or the Ballyhoo Bill.

ONE radio broadcaster of the "Henderson Breed" goes to jail in the person of the "Oregon Wildcat" or Robert Gordon Duncan. Another who thought that such a meticulous thing as store ownership was fit grounds for profanity, obscenity and indecency over the radio. Mr. Duncan happened not to have enough money to get away with it.

I think of this when I hear some one debasing the lower classes of people: There are always human footprints on the bank of the pool where the hogs go down to wallow.

The other day I heard a fellow say that the trouble with women is that they imagine too much. But the devil of it is that nine out of ten times, they hit the nail on the head.

Coste and Bellonte Finish Good Will Tour of the U. S. I suppose that will call for the sinking of forty or fifty battleships and the de-mobilization of the Coast Guard.

As a supplement of some rural wit:

The boys were all gathered around the stove one Sunday when one fellow spoke up and said: "Do you know what the old man pulled last night, it was the dundest trick I ever heard of".

"What did he do?" somebody was good enough to ask.

"He went over here to the store and bought a sack of flour when we didn't have a drop of whiskey in the house", was the casual reply. It's humor if it is dry as the dickens.

This summer I dug some potatoes and in one particular instance, I noticed where the seed was rotten and had infected the new potatoes. I wonder if this paragraph holds any meaning?

BRIBERY OFFERED TO OBTAIN VOTES FOR DEWEY SHORT

Congressman Frank Reid, chairman of the Congressional Flood Control Committee, and Congressman Dewey Short, congressman from this district were in Kennett Thursday morning for another of their "non-partisan" flood control conferences sponsoring the candidacy of Mr. Short, who is a candidate to succeed himself on the Republican ticket.

Although some dozen or more

Democrats with a few Republican leaders, accepted an invitation to meet in Langdon Jones' office for a "non-partisan" conference to hear of the progress of flood control legislation. Congressman Reid lost no time in informing the party that he was not out in the interest of flood control at this time, but was on a political mission in the interest of Short's candidacy.

After having the audacity to extend an invitation to this small group of dyed-in-the-wool Democrats to forsake their party and rally to the support of Short, when invitation was courteously but firmly declined by Senator T. R. R. Ely, acting as spokesman for the crowd, Reid made a threat which bordered upon blackmail.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Ely made the statement that he believed Jim Fulbright could vote just as often for flood control as Dewey Short, and concluded his statement by expressing confidence in the members of Congress, whom he believed would vote for flood control if they thought it was right, and would vote

Reid and Short both tried to convey the impression that Short was showing some special favor to this section by the interest he was taking in flood control, evidently losing sight of the fact that it was only the duty of whoever represents the Fourteenth District, to do all in his power to secure flood control legislation for the St. Francis and other tributary streams.

Whereupon Mr. Reid replied to the effect, "Well Senator, you have been in politics long enough to know that we don't always vote for the things that we believe are right or wrong. We consider our own interest in the matter".

From the tone and tenor of his remarks, Mr. Reid left the impression on his hearers that unless Short was returned to Congress that the district would be jeopardizing its chances of receiving additional flood control.

Reid and Short both tried to convey the impression that Short was showing some special favor to this section by the interest he was taking in flood control, evidently losing sight of the fact that it was only the duty of whoever represents the Fourteenth District, to do all in his power to secure flood control legislation for

NEW MADRID COUNTY TO BE REPRESENTED IN AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

The Winter Short Courses in Agriculture offered by the College of Agriculture, University of Missouri at Columbia are scheduled to start November 3, according to an announcement recently received by Scott M. Julian, County Agent, at New Madrid from Sam B. Shirky, Superintendent of Short Courses.

New Madrid County has had Short Course students at the College of Agriculture nearly every year for over thirty years, and this year promises to be no exception as several are considering enrolling for the term starting November 3.

Nearly 12 New Madrid County men have taken the Short Course during that time and of this number 8 are at present farming in the County. These former Short Course students and graduates are as follows: J. H. Howard, Wash D. How-

The 1930-31 Short Courses are more complete than ever before and offer courses in all phases of live stock production, diary production and dairy manufactures, horticulture, poultry raising, agricultural economics, agricultural engineering, which includes farm shop work farm engines and tractors, farm machinery and farm buildings, courses in entomology, field crops, soils, rural sociology and veterinary science. Every possible phase or work of value or interest on the farm is offered.

The Winter Short Courses are offered during the winter months when farm work is least pressing. The first term begins November 3 and closes December 19. The entrance requirements are not rigid. While it is advantageous to have a high school training, it is not necessary for entrance. Students must be 16 years of age and have at least a grade school education. All of the teachers and equipment of the College of Agriculture are available for the instruction of Winter Short Course students. The cost of attending the course is low, approximately $100 being necessary for one term's work. Over 4000 students have attended the Winter Short Courses and some of the most successful farmers in Missouri are listed among its graduates.

Anyone interested in the Winter Short Courses in Agriculture may secure the Short Course Announcement by writing or calling at the office of the County Agent, or by addressing Sam B. Shirky, Supt. of Short Courses, College of Agriculture, Columbia, Mo.

WILTON FARMER RAISES TEN-POUND RUTABAGA

Louis Bernhardt, a farmed residing six miles east of Wilton, saw in our first issue where we were trying to put Wilton on the map by telling of the fertility of the soil of Monroe County, and while harvesting his crop of rutabagas this week came across some unusually large ones. There were several of them weighing seven and eight pounds, but one in the lot tipped the scales for even ten pounds.

Mr. Bernhardt brought it to this office Tuesday and it is now on display at the State Bank.

No special care was taken in the cultivation of this crop. Mr. Bernhardt says, they being raised along with his potato crop, each being cultivated at the same time, no special effort being given them.

Come on, Southeast Missouri, you who claim yours is the modern promised land—show us something that beats our twelve-foot higheast—and these ten-pound rutabagas.—Guy Cooksey in Wilton, Wis., Times

EIGHTY COUPLES ATTEND BEN HUR DANCE THURSDAY

A crowd of eighty couples from Sikeston, Cape Girardeau, Chaffee and Charleston attended a dance sponsored by the local chapter of the Ben Hur Lodge last Thursday night in the New Armory Hall. The Ben Hur orchestra of Cape Girardeau furnished music for the occasion.

The dance committee announced that another dance program would be arranged for November, probably between the twelfth and twentieth of the month.

The Sikeston Ben Hur group will meet next Monday night, November 3, at the I. O. O. F. Hall in regular meeting. New members will be initiated.

LILBOURN OFFICER SHOT TO DEATH SUNDAY DURING ALTERCATION OVER GATE CRASHER

J. C. Henderson, 40 years old, deputy sheriff and constable of Lilburn, was shot and instantly killed Sunday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock at Parma, when he tried to assist Peter Smith, night marshall of that city, in a disorder before a baseball game.

Smith pulled his gun in trying to stop a gate crasher. The latter objected, and Henderson walked up and said: "That's not necessary, Smith." A bystander grabbed the gun, however, and struck the gate crasher over the head. The weapon was discharged and Henderson fell dead with a bullet through his heart. Justice of the Peace Neal of Parma called together a Coroner's jury and returned a verdict that Henderson came to his death at the hands of a pistol wielded by Smith, and ordered the Parma officer held without bond. Smith surrendered voluntarily to the sheriff. A date for a preliminary hearing was not set.

Henderson was one of the most widely known officers in New Madrid County. Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at New Madrid. Interment in that city. His widow and four children survive.

UNIDENTIFIED NEGRO KILLED ON HIGHWAY

An unidentified negro, about 45 years old, was instantly killed Saturday night about 7:30 o'clock, when he was struck by a car driven by Roy Miller of Ancell. The accident happened on Highway 61 at the first curve east of the drainage canal bridge about seven miles from Cape Girardeau.

Miller, with E. H. Moore, Jr., and Morgan English, was returning from Cape Girardeau, having made arrangements to go hunting early Sunday morning. After striking the negro, one of the men called an officer and the other two remained at the scene of the accident. George Dempster, coroner of the County was called in the case, and conducted an inquest that night in the Bissellhoff Funeral Parlor at Illmo. A verdict of unavoidable accident was returned, and the three youths were freed.

Several persons testified at the inquest that the negro had deliberately walked in front of automobiles that evening. His clothes were nicely pressed. He carried no identification papers. His suitcase contained two suits of clothes, recently cleaned and pressed, other articles of wearing apparel and two bottles of medicine purchased from a St. Louis drug store.

According to Mr. Dempster, funeral services were to be held Monday afternoon at Illmo.

Miss Amanda Goddard, secretary to Rev. C. C. Barnhardt, pastor of the M. E. church for the past two years, has resigned to take a position with better salary in Owensboro, Kentucky, November 5.

Chicago and New York make more funds available for improvements which will give work to the unemployed. At best, such moves are no more than donations, effective perhaps to relieve present distress, but having no bearing on the broader problem of discovering the cause of the trouble. There is an unpleasant analogy between plans of the kind under discussion and the games barbecue and food distributions by which decadent Rome sought to quiet a disaffected populace; but after all, an empty stomach is an empty stomach, and perhaps the first and most important step is to fill it.

In spite of the many murders he had committed and the years he had defied the law, we felt a great sympathy for Jake Fleagle when he lay in a hospital at Springfield dying from wounds and calling for his mother. We seldom think of the inner emotions of an outlaw who has committed all of the crimes imaginable. Their murders, bank robberies and holdups do not fit in with our ideas of tender feelings. But Fleagle in his last hours reverted to the days of his boyhood, when, suffering from a small injury, like all other children, wanted his mother.

And we are very sorry that the mother could not reach him until he had gone before his Maker to answer other children, wanted his mother been with him for an hour or so before death, we believe he would have passed into the next world with some semblance of the spirit which was with him before his first unlawful act. We do not doubt but that Fleagle would have walked to the gallows with a steady step and no sign of fear for death had he been captured uninjured. But the agony of a wound in the stomach broke down all the conscienceless bravado and made of him a boy once more crying for his mother.—Shelbina Democrat.

Rheumatism often affected my arms and limbs.

"Seeing where many people were benefited by the use of Konjola I decided to give it a trial. After using two bottles, the stomach trouble disappeared. As I continued with the treatment my health returned. I enjoy my food now and I have more energy. I highly recommend Konjola for what it has done for me".

PEG KINDER, 30, MOREHOUSE RESTAURANT MAN COMMITS SUICIDE MONDAY MORNING

Warren G. "Peg" Kinder, thirty years old, for the past two or three months proprietor of a small restaurant in back of the Forest Hotel, locked the doors of his establishment shortly before 10 o'clock Monday morning and sent a bullet from a small pistol through his heart. The body was found thirty minutes later by friends.

A coroner's investigation later disclosed that Kinder also had a bottle of poison on his body, but there was nothing to indicate that he had swallowed a portion of the substance. His mother, 65 years old, is confined to her bed with shock over the affair.

Kinder, it was disclosed, left a will asking that all his debts be paid out of funds at hand, and asked further that bills due him be collected.

According to information from Morehouse, Kinder lived with his mother. Until recently he was employed in the Himmelberger-Harrison saw mill of that place, but quit several months ago to open his restaurant.

A verdict of suicide with a pistol was returned by the coroner's jury Monday afternoon. Friends could assign no reason for his action. He is unmarried.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the house. Interment in the Sikeston City Cemetery, John Parrish of Morehouse in charge.

Mrs. W. W. Pinnell and granddaughter, Miss Jane Hunter Pinnell, spent the week-end in Caruthersville with her son, L. E. Pinnell and family.

Miss Mildred Gallivan was hostess to a number of her friends at her home on Scott Street Thursday evening, where they enjoyed cards and dancing.

The public schools in New Madrid were closed Thursday and Friday so that the teachers might attend the Southeast Missouri Teachers' Meeting at Cape Girardeau.

Misses Clara Drinkwater, Geraldine DeLisle and Clara Standley motored to Charleston Saturday afternoon, where they spent the week-end at the home of the former.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schuenberg of Kewanee had as dinner guests last Thursday Mesdames A. O. Allen, C. B. Richards and Misses Dorothy Conaway and Marguerite Dawson.

Attorney and Mrs. E. F. Sharp and daughters, Mable and Cora and Mrs. W. L. LaFont, accompanied by Mrs. Hal E. Hunter, motored to Memphis Saturday to visit their daughters Misses Helen Sharp and Mary and Libba Hunter.

A large group of youngsters surprised Miss Mildred Gallivan with a surprise party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Gallivan Wednesday evening, the occasion being her birthday. The evening was pleasantly spent playing bridge.

The Pastime Billiard Parlor operated on Main street by Gaines of Steele, was destroyed by fire Friday night at 1:15 o'clock, the origin of which is unknown. The building is joined on the south by Manheimer's Clothing Store, and on the north by Hunter's Supply Grocery. Hunter's Supply was caught fire, but it was saved with most of the damage being done by smoke and water. The billiard parlor, which contained six tables, was a total loss and was estimated to be worth about $8000.

WHAT IS THIS GOLF? ASKS ADDICT OF THE GAME

The Standard is indebted to Frank Bridges, formerly of the staff of the Sikeston High School, and at present employed as teacher of biology in Marion, Ill.

Golf is a kind of work made expensive enough for a man to enjoy it. It is a physical and mental exertion made attractive by the fact that you have to dress for it in a $200,000 club house. Golf is what letter carrying ditch digging and carpet beating would be if those three tasks had to be performed on the same hot afternoon in short pants and colored socks by gouty-looking gentlemen who required a different implement for every mood. Golf is the simplest looking game in the world when you decide to take it up, and the toughest when you have been at it ten or twelve years. It is probably the only known game a man can play as long as a quarter of a century and then discover that it was too deep for him in the first place.

The game is played on carefully selected greens, made of grass, with little white balls and as many clubs as the player can afford. These balls cost from 75¢ to $25, and it is possible to support a family of ten (all adults) for five months on the money represented by the balls lost by some golfers in a single afternoon.

A golf course has 18 holes, 17 of which are unnecessary and put in to make the game harder. A "hole" is a tin cup in the center of a "green". A green is a small parcel of grass costing about $1.98 a blade, and usually located between a brook and a couple of apple trees or a lot of unfinished excavations.

The idea is to get the golf ball from a given point into each of the 18 cups in the fewest strokes and the greatest number of words. The ball must not be thrown, pushed or carried. It must be propelled by about $200 worth of curious looking implements, especially designed to provoke the owner. Each implement has a specific purpose and ultimately some golfers get to know what that purpose is. They are the exceptions. After each hole has been completed the golfer counts his strokes. Then he subtracts six and says, "Made that in five". That's one above par. "Shall we play for fifty cents on the next hole, Smith?"

After the final or 18th hole, the golfer adds up his score and stops when he has 87. He then has a swim with six or eight other liars, and calls it the end of a perfect day.

This is not original but copied and passed on to you for the good I hope it will do.

Yours truly,

A FAN.

SUPERSTITIONS AND BATS

Ira Shuffit, one of our genial truckmen about town, registers in the grand open hard luck tournament of all time. He needed only to break one leg or both last week to complete seven days of perfect hard luck.

It started Monday morning, October 13. On that day, Ira trucked a load of household goods to its new location. The last article to be delivered, and one with which Shuffit had been extremely careful, was a caged canary bird. The bottom fell out of the cage as Ira breathed a sigh of relief congratulating himself upon safe transportation for such a delicate creature. The bird escaped and Ira swapped one trucking bill for one canary bird, which balanced that page in the book.

Tuesday afternoon, Ira had the misfortune of cracking a long mirror. Damages amounted to $14.95.

The luck streak continued Wednesday when a prospective customer tore up Ira's cab door. The loss was not estimated.

Even though Thursday went by without mishap, the jinx followed the family Friday when a car ran into and broke a leg for Jim Shuffit's brand new $25 coon dog purchased the day before.

Ira was happy over the fact that the 13th did not fall on Friday.

"that ten looks good to me"

Thanks for the tip, Old Top! Let's step in here—what's your cigar. The smoke's on me—Huh? NO!—just your "commission" on the ten-spot you saved me. Swiped your idea and bought all my winter coal today at summer prices, and I'm that ten ahead on the difference in the price.

HERE'S WHY: For one thing, lower transportation costs on coal moved now allow us to make Summer prices lower to the user.

Dizzy
Spells

Mrs. Cora Moshier, of 601 North New Orleans Ave., Brinkley, Ark., writes:

"I was so constipated until I was just sick. I could not stand to take strong medicine, so I decided I would take Black-Draught, and I found it to be all right.

"I would have such dizzy spells, and such bursting headaches, until I could hardly go. But after taking a few doses of Black-Draught, I would feel just fine. It is a good medicine, and I recommend it to all who suffer as I did. It is very easy to recommend a medicine that has done as much for me as Black-Draught has done."
